With the failure to secure comprehensive immigration reform in Washington—including to pass even the DREAM Act—two things seem clear. The first is that what is driving the debate is not simply the immigration system per se but also a deeper anxiety about the changing demographics and economics of our nation. The second is that the challenge if immigration policy is moving down the geographic scale: increasingly, the battles about integrating or restricting immigrants will occur at the state, regional, and local levels. Participation is by RSVP only. Conference fee is $20. For more information email us at csii@usc.edu or reach us by phone at 213-740-3643

Author Dave Zirin is calling for protests at baseball stadiums across the country on opening day of the 2011 season to demand Major League Baseball move the All-Star Games out of Arizona. Arizona is under boycott for passage of anti-immigrant legislation SB1070. While MLB commissioner Bud Selig has criticized the law, the All-Star Games have not been rescheduled.
