Fall 2009 Learning Enrichment Workshop Schedule

Scattered? Frustrated? Behind in Homework?
Take Control of Your Academic Life!
An overview of the foundational skills for becoming a well-organized and master student will be provided. Students will learn goal setting strategies, concentration skills and develop an individualized “plan” for efficient study time.

Thursday, September 10, 2009  3-4 p.m.

Notetaking: Are You Getting the Most Out of Each Lecture?
This workshop will cover ways to improve notetaking skills and especially how to “keep up” during fast-paced lectures. The relationship between quality listening and notetaking skills will also be discussed.

Thursday, September 17, 2009  3-4 p.m.

Thinking Skills in Problem Solving
New information about critical thinking to enhance your ability to retain new information and derive new meaning.

Thursday, September 24, 2009  3-4 p.m.

Writing Papers
An overall discussion of the writing process for term papers, research papers and essay exams. Other topics include organization of ideas, structure and outlines.

Thursday, October 1, 2009  3-4 p.m.

Test-Taking Anxiety
Did you know the material for the test only to miss it on the exam? Creative ways to relieve anxiety will be presented and practiced.

Thursday, October 8, 2009  3-4 p.m.

Power Reading
Power reading is not speed reading! Power reading is the process of developing an approach to reading assignments with the purpose of gaining a deeper understanding of the material. Emphasis will be placed on “quality” reading needed for tests and comprehension.

Thursday, October 15, 2009  3-4 p.m.

Learn to Remember – Remember to Learn!
The importance of utilizing short and long-term memory will be discussed. Students will be involved in memory exercises and techniques that sharpen the ability to recall information.

Thursday, October 22, 2009  3-4 p.m.

Exam-Taking Strategies
Are you “cramming” before every test? Preparing for exams as a semester-long process will be discussed. Test-taking strategies for objective and essay exams will be covered.

Thursday, October 29, 2009  3-4 p.m.
